The Token Project

Which Has A Physical Equivalent In The World

HelpSeed Blockchain Donation Technology, which sees the need for social responsibility projects and the supporters who manage these aid organizations to keep up with the technology, with the change in the established order in the 21st centu- ry, is a charity organization that has started to work to fill the gap in this field. The primary goal of the organization, whose biggest goal is to make the world better, is to increase the number of trees in the world and increase the oxygen level to offer a more livable life.

When the infrastructure works of the platform are completed, it is aimed to become a versatile platform that has its own blockchain and can provide infrastructure and support to other aid projects. With the HelpSeed Blockchain, all charities around the world will be able to start their own online donation campaigns and access the convenience of receiving pay- ments with crypto money. In the blockchain infrastructure, non-governmental organizations will be able to better fund their projects by issuing their own tokens.

Donations made with the HelpSeed blockchain are instantly registered with the NFT certificate and the donations of individ- uals are guaranteed. In all donation campaigns to be made around the world, HelpSeed will use its own coins, and an auto- matic 1% donation will be made for those who buy these coins.

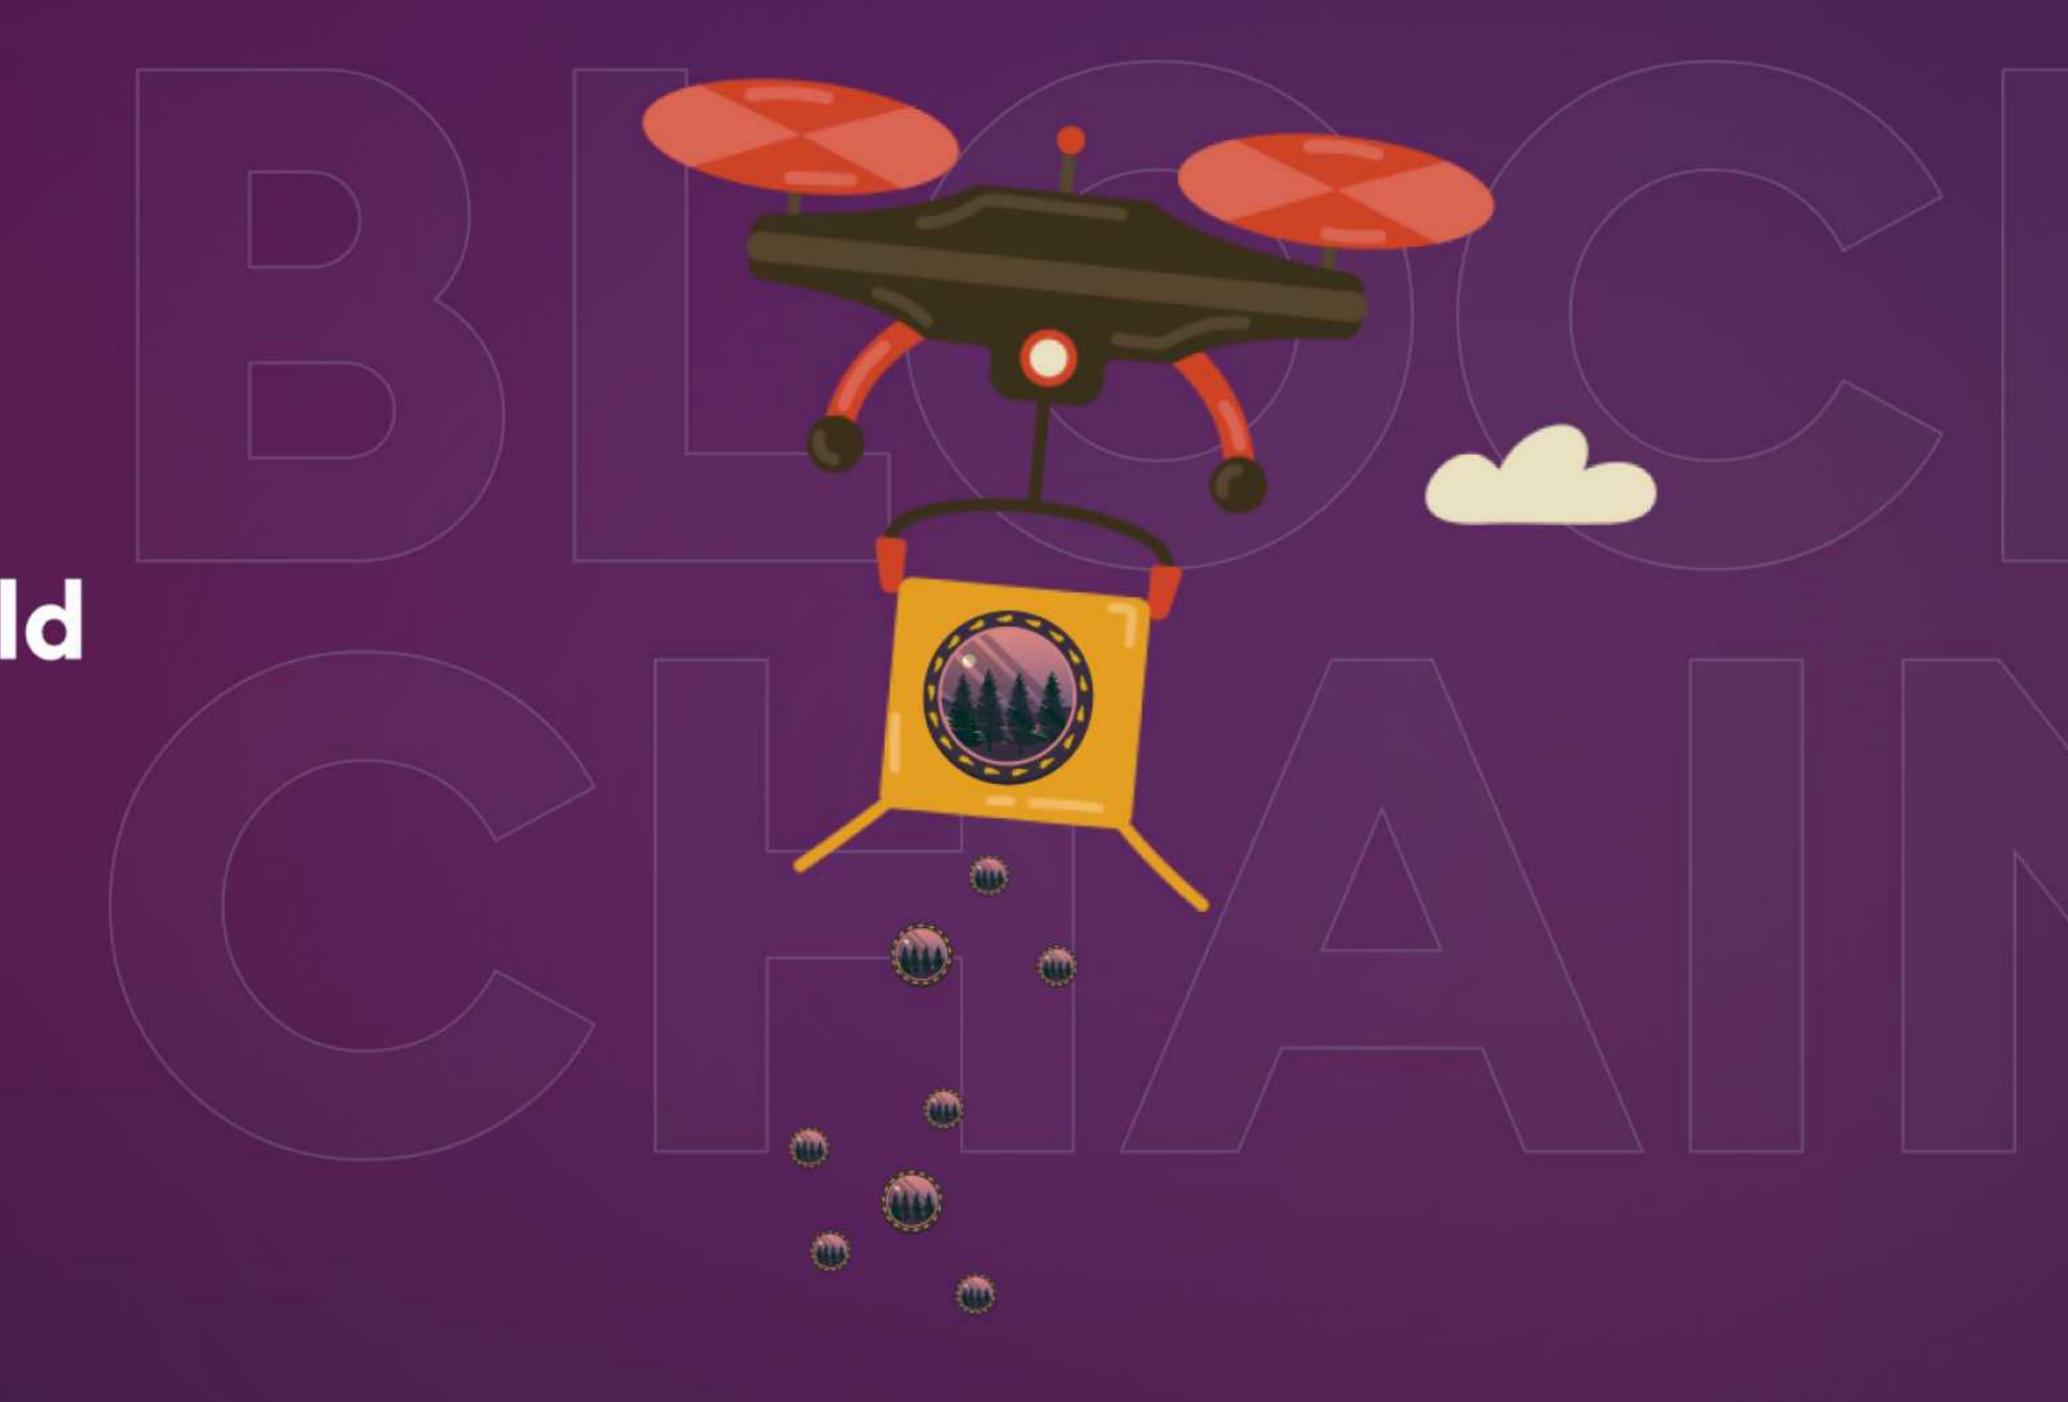

In this aid project, in which people who buy coins for investment purposes will also participate in the donation campaign, tokens will be burned in return for automatic donation at the rate of 1% of the purchased tokens. In the donations made through the platform, the entire donation amount will be burned, and it is aimed to provide more support by increasing the token value regularly.

Realizing that the future is possible with a beautiful nature and the advantageous nature of being able to earn while helping each other, we created the HelpSeed Token ecosystem as a new-age blockchain.

About Us

What is HelpSeed Token?

The aim of HelpSeed is to make a reliable investment by planting 1 seed in every 100 tokens on your behalf when purchasing Helps tokens. Our project is progressing faster and more confidently, as all HelpSeed token community members are connected to each other in order to gain better profit from the project.

During the times when global warming was a dream, Helpseed adven- ture started with the first e-mail of Satoshi Nakamoto nickname in 2008. One of the most criticized issues in the crypto industry and the proof-of-work mechanism, the construction of the system, which works with the proof-of-work mechanism, has turned dreams into reality to some extent, based on the first mailing.

Huge mining facilities, which consume millions of watts of energy, damage the nature and the infrastructure in the regions where they are located, and technologies that produce different solutions in this regard have emerged day by day. Those who invest in crypto money through HelpSeed will experience the happiness of adding value to life together with the community members, being aware of contributing to nature while investing at the same time.

Recognizing this gap in the world and aiming for a sustainable life to be applicable on a global scale, HelpSeed has adopted the principle of providing a more livable life to future generations as a principle of international citizenship by starting a completely environmentally focused and blockchain-based social responsibility project.
